

Are you in control of your data? Or does your data control you?

Connect people with information for faster and better decisions, throughout the life of your data.

Data remains the most valuable asset your company owns. But it's changing and coming at you from new and untapped sources, faster than ever. In fact, the data being managed by each organization increases an average of 40-60% per year.* You're under pressure to deliver better, faster and at lower cost, and you need to find holistic and innovative ways to manage and analyze more and more terabytes of information.

Our certified solution architects and analytics experts understand those challenges and ensure you have the tools to effectively organize, control, manage and leverage your valuable data, all while minimizing risk. Essextec can help to eliminate up to 90% of redundant data. We can also enable you to condense your storage footprint—speeding backups and recovery, eliminating down time and increasing system availability.

We collaborate to understand your needs, focus on giving you options for just the right solution and help to assure your data is secure, accurate, available, and high-performing. We'll help you realize greater efficiency in managing your physical and virtual environments so you can achieve your business goals and blow past the competition.

Solutions that help you leverage your data— and locate untapped potential.

Our approach helps you eliminate the need for multiple-point solutions, while supporting all storage environments: physical, virtual, or cloud based. We go beyond storage and give you the tools and confidence to organize, control and manage your data, while minimizing risk of information loss and liability.

Backup and Recovery

The explosion of information, complex virtual environments, distributed workforces, demanding compliance mandates, and the rise of mobile devices constantly challenge you to keep information available and secure. Essextec gives you easy-to-manage backup and recovery solutions, with a full-range of capabilities, from progressive incremental backup to bare machine recovery. You'll have the ability to scale up or scale down, all while lowering your total cost of ownership.

Storage

Our scalable solutions maximize flexibility, allowing you to adapt to evolving business requirements, while improving efficiency and productivity and reducing storage costs by up to 50%. Through storage virtualization, we'll help you combine multiple, physical devices into a logical, virtual device that can be centrally managed and controlled on demand.

Archiving

Tiered storage solutions will help assign categories of data to the most effective storage media. You'll get a customized solution, depending on your required level of protection, frequency of use and performance needs. This will enable you to retain business critical information and ensure the most frequently used data is available on the lightning fast access tool, while less critical data is stored more economically.

eDiscovery

Failing to properly manage enterprise data and allow timely access to relevant documents can have severe consequences on your business. The Essextec team will help unify assets across the enterprise, ensuring the correct information policies are in place for effective data lifecycle management. When litigation is involved, our Digital Forensics Services bring critical knowledge to investigations and allow you to reduce the burden, cost and risk associated with future eDiscovery needs.

Business Analytics

Analytics is a catalyst for improved business strategy and performance. We'll help you harness and use critical data to evaluate historical information and to look ahead. With approaches like scenario planning and predictive modeling, you gain more actionable insights and empower your people with relevant information. This means broader perspective for faster and better business decisions.

Cloud Services

Companies are migrating solutions to the cloud to keep up with the constant pressure to deploy, scale and respond to business needs faster. We'll help you find the best way to free up capital and personnel, allowing more focus on business centric growth.
